H. E. Roppel, pastor

Our Annual "Children's Day" will be observed on Sunday, Aug. 23rd. The program committee is at work and a program which promises to be a good one is in process of preparation.

Rev. A. S. Cougal, Keniston, Sask., who was a former seminary class mate in Naperville, Ill. with Rev. Roppel, is spending a few days here in town this week renewing friendship etc.

We note with regret that the Evangelist is quarantined at present on account of scarlet fever, but the patient, little Miss Hope Roppel is improving splendidly. To carry his ministerial work without interruption and danger to the public by the contagion, Rev. Roppel through the kindness of Mrs. Mueller, is rooming at her home to avoid going in and out of the parsonage at present.

Miss Beale Clemons, who has been engaged as a hospital nurse in Cardston, Alta., returned to the home of her parents here, for a couple of months rest from her heavy responsibilities and strenuous work in the hospital.

Rev. A. S. Cougal will be in attendance at the prayer service on Thursday evening, he will also give the prayer meeting talk. Everybody is cordially invited.

A Record for the Didsbury Fair

Large Attendance and Keen Interest Displayed at Twenty-second Annual Event of Agricultural Society.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, August 4 and 5, the Didsbury Agricultural Society held its twenty-second annual exhibition, the weather conditions being ideal. The first day was largely taken up in arranging and placing the exhibits in their respective order, and in this work the officials of the Society were greatly encouraged and assisted by voluntary workers. The exhibits numbered eleven hundred and six, or nearly four hundred more than last year, testifying in no small degree to the added interest of exhibitors over the previous year. Neither was the additional number confined particularly to any one class or section, as evidently the interest was just as marked in the live stock section, proportionately exceeding perhaps the swine, as in any other. As was to be expected, in view of the pronounced leaning towards these breeds by local farmers, the Holstein and the Ayrshire vied with one another for both numbers and honors.

The entries in the class for swine did not come up to expectations, the reason for this, it is understood, being that the breeders were not aware of the additional accommodation that had been provided.

The exhibits of more particular interest to the housewife, including butter and eggs, flowers, vegetables, preserves, and home-cooking, was of a very high standard throughout, and as the entries were very numerous in almost every class, the interest displayed was in proportion, the exhibition shed being thronged during the afternoon with some very critical spectators.

The exhibits, numbering 1,106, were divided up as follows: Horses, 142; cows, 103; swine, 24; sheep, 12; poultry, 134; pets, 3; grasses, 15; roots and vegetables, 103; home products, 194; preserves, pickles, etc., 103; butter, 20; eggs, 38; flowers, 50; paintings, 7; fancy work, 151; school work, 7.

Governing Canada

Canada's first Premier was wont to say that the Dominion was a difficult country to govern. If he found this to be true in the years immediately following confederation, when Canada consisted chiefly of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and the West was an unknown factor of small population and undeveloped territory, how much more difficult must the problem be today when the opinions and needs of nearly three millions of people west of the Great Lakes require to be harmonized with those of the six millions east of that geographical barrier.

Forty years ago the problem was to effect a compromise between the conflicting views of the farming population of Ontario and Quebec on the one hand and the industrial interests of these Provinces on the other hand, and also to reconcile the then acute differences existing between French-speaking Roman Catholic Quebec and English-speaking Protestant Ontario. Coupled with these major difficulties was the task of uniting by a bond of common interest these two Provinces of upper Canada with the Maritime Provinces.

With the passage of time the old racial and religious animosities between Ontario and Quebec have largely disappeared, while the development of manufacturing in both Provinces, and the shifting of the main agricultural activity and production to the newer Western Provinces has served to create a greater unity of sentiment in regard to tariffs and national policies in the East, although marked differences still exist between the central Provinces and the Maritimes.

But the old conflict of interest between agricultural producer and manufacturer which raged in the East in years gone by still prevails between East and West but intensified by reason of sectional considerations, a more or less solid East against a solid West, whereas formerly it was merely a difference of viewpoints within a compact community.

Some good people despair of any solution of this national problem being found, but there is no reason for such gloomy forebodings. The Anglo-Saxon race the world over has always demonstrated its ability to solve such problems, and what it has repeatedly accomplished in the past, it can succeed in doing in the future. It only requires patience, patriotism and statesmanship, and that these will not be found lacking in Canada is indicated by the growing realization, both East and West, that an understanding, based on mutual compromises, must be worked out.

In the government of Canada some earnest people also find cause for disquiet in the changes which, in the onward march of the world, are taking place in the relationships existing between Great Britain and the overseas Dominions of the Empire. In the development of a national consciousness in the several Dominions, and their growing autonomy in regard to matters of domestic concern, danger to the Empire is seen by these rather timid souls. Some years ago they were frightened by the bogey of annexation to the United States because of a proposal of mutual trade concessions between the Dominion and the Republic and adopted as their rallying cry "No truck nor trade with the Yankees." It is now universally recognized that the defeat of reciprocity was a great national blunder, but, despite its defeat, trade goes on increasing year after year and Canada's independence and British connection is in no wise impaired.

The present Premier of Canada well stated the position the other day when he said that as Canada is true to herself and Canadians are true to Canada's highest interests, so will Canadian citizenship mean most for Empire citizenship; that the Empire is just what His Majesty the King has so often described it to be: "A community of free nations." The Premier added: "We have all that any nation could desire in the way of self-government, and more than most nations have by way of a much-to-be-envied political association with other nations of like ideals and aims." That is to say, Canada enjoys all the rights of self-government—if there is anything lacking it can be had for the asking—and, in addition, enjoys all the advantages and strength accruing from its Empire connection. Most countries would sacrifice a great deal to obtain the same position.

Triumph For Surgery

Man In England Successfully Treated For Broken Neck

John Harrington, a florist's assistant of Eastney, England, has been successfully treated at Portsmouth Hospital for a broken neck, and hopes shortly to return to his work.

Last October a large piece of masonry fell on his head. His head, neck and shoulders were placed in plaster of paris, and this has now been replaced by a celluloid jacket, which encases the upper part of the man's body and fastens round the side of his head.

At a distance the appliance is hardly observable, and Harrington is free from pain except when there is a change in the weather. His "cure" is regarded as a triumph for surgery.

Witty Boarder: "Your steak is like the weather this evening, madam, rather raw."

Witty Landlady: "Indeed? By the way, your account is like the weather, too—rather unsettled."

Dominions Should Aid Navy

Readjustment of Cost to Britain is Long Overdue

The Dominion joins other New Zealand newspapers in discussing the naval policy of the dominions and states that the time is at hand when the British dominions must either accept their full responsibilities in the matter of naval defence of the empire or dispense with the measure of protection on which they have hitherto relied.

The Wellington Post says that, some day, thankfulness with which the dominions see the Mother Country facing her imperial obligations may inspire some of them to do likewise.

The Herald, Auckland, says a readjustment of the cost of the navy is long overdue.

"Britain has been very patient," the Herald adds, "and the dominions have taken full advantage of her greatness of heart. The cruiser dispute (in the British House of Commons) must be interpreted as a critical point in the wider question of empire naval defence."

Britain Is Advertising

"British Goods Are Best" Inscribed On Postmarking Machines

An illustration of the way that Britain is awakening to the value of advertising is contained in the announcement that the general post-office has ordered plates inscribed "British Goods Are Best," for all postmarking machines. The commissioner of public works is considering lending space on public buildings for displaying of posters, electrical and other signs, appealing to the public to buy British goods.

To Curb Lawlessness

See Motor Car and Pistol as Greatest Crime Adjuncts

"The greatest adjuncts to crime are the automobile and the pistol, and at the next session of the New York state legislature I will recommend that the penalties for all major crimes committed with the aid of either of these be doubled wherever possible," said Commissioner Enright, head of the New York police department, in the course of a discussion on the prevalence of crime, the means of preventing it, and of curbing the activities of the habitual criminal.

The commissioner did not know if his suggestion would be received favorably by the New York state legislature, but he felt sure it would provide a partial remedy for the problem of preventing crime.

BEST MEDICINE

SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised By a Nova Scotia Lady

Among the well known and esteemed residents of Hemford, N.S., is Mrs. Amanda Woodworth. Some four years ago Mrs. Woodworth had the misfortune to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, and attending to farm duties, she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The least exertion would leave her tired and breathless. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicines she took did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a newspaper of a case very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her housework, and says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She gives credit for her present splendid health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she says are the best medicine she ever used, and strongly recommends the pills to all run-down people.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Railways in Early Years

Railways were in use long before the steam locomotive was invented. As early as 1602 short railways in and about Newcastle, England, were laid down by Mr. Beaumont. The rails were timbers laid exactly straight and parallel, and bulky carts on four rollers fitted these rails. Each cart was drawn by a horse, and in this way coal was hauled from the colliery to the river front, "to the immense benefit of the coal merchants."

Higher Education in Canada

Registration 39,372 At Canadian Universities

The assets of Canadian universities in 1924 amounted to $80,864,627, the income to $10,541,874, and the expenditure to $11,716,921. These figures are given in a preliminary report on higher education in Canada issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

The registration at the 23 universities in Canada for the academic year ending June 30, 1924, was 39,372, about the same as in 1923. Of this number, about one-third were females.

London Speculates On Programme Of Prince

Wonder What Plans Are After South America Trip

What the future travel programmes of the Prince of Wales will be after his visit to South America is a popular topic for speculation. When he bids farewell to the American continent south of the equator he will have completed his rounds of all the continents of the earth, his trips having taken him to all the great dominions and larger colonies of the British empire as well as to several countries outside the kingdom which he will eventually rule.

Carrying out the extensive programme of trips that was planned for him after the world war, the Prince has spent part of each year since that time away from London. With no more worlds to conquer he will, in the opinion of those who interest themselves in speculating on his future, settle down to seriously prepare himself for the business of being King.

The Prince of Wales has been characterized as the greatest salesman that ever presented the British empire and his wares, international relations. As such he has been a success in all that the term implies.

The homecoming of the Prince will excite Britishers to a greater extent than his return from any previous trip. After his return he will have more time to spend among his own people and consequently there are likely to be more rumors and speculation concerning him than during his former stays in the British capital between trips. These will not influence him, however, as he has shown a strong will and independence of action regarding himself since childhood.

For Scalds or Burns.—Dr. Thomas'

It is also an excellent remedy for all manner of cuts, bruises and sprains, as well as for relieving the pains arising from inflammation of various kinds. Wireless Waves Travel Fast

Reach Point 8,000 Miles Distant In 23rd of Second

The editor of the Children's Newspaper, lying in bed the other day, heard Big Ben, the bell in the Parliament Buildings, London, England, strike midnight.

But the twelve strokes of the big bell were heard in California before the editor heard them, for they were broadcast by 2 LO and picked up by thousands of people in the States.

This is the explanation. From the editor's home to Big Ben is 4,620 feet, and as sound travels in the air about 1,120 feet a second, the chimes of Big Ben took 4 1/4 seconds to reach the editor's room. But, as wireless waves travel 186,000 miles a second, the chimes took only a 23rd of a second to reach California, 8,000 miles away. The American therefore heard the bells more than four seconds before the editor heard them through his window, almost within sight of Big Ben's tower.

Prison Populations

Little Variation Shown in Number Of Penitentiary Inmates During Past Four Years

The penitentiary population of Canada has varied only a few hundred during the past four years, and the 1925 figure is lower than the two preceding years. In the penitentiaries controlled by the department of justice, there were, in 1921, 2,150 prisoners; in 1922 there were 2,640; in 1923, there were 2,480, and last year there was a drop to 2,225.

Of the total penitentiary population of Canada last year, 692 were in Kingston; 551 were at St. Vincent de Paul; 266 at Dorchester; 199 in Manitoba; 224 in British Columbia; and 293 in Saskatchewan.

An Ocean Sulphur Spring

Surveyed By Experts Off Coast Of Florida

Bubbling out of the ocean from a depth of 125 feet, a big spring of fresh sulphur water, two miles off the coast of Florida, near St. Augustine, recently was surveyed by experts of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The government scientists anchored directly over the troubled waters of the sea spring. The water sampled was about the same temperature as the surrounding Atlantic, but the tremendous size and force of its geyser-like upwelling was plainly apparent at the surface.

Would Segregate Prisoners

Suggests Segregating Prisoners According to Their Temperament

Creation of a number of small prisons to replace the existing comparatively few jails and penitentiaries, where criminals could be segregated according to temperament, is a proposal which Judge Marcus A. RAILWAYS OFFER NORTH COUNTRY PRAIRIE RATES

Edmonton.—Both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways have agreed to amend their offers in respect to operation of the Peace River lines, by undertaking to give the benefit of a prairie rate basis for a temporary period, pending the conclusion of satisfactory terms with the Royal Bank.

Premier Greenfield made a statement to this effect in the legislature. He said he had received advices from both railways since his statement in the house on Aug. 4, but that this constituted the only new development in the situation, nothing further having been heard from the bank.

The effect of the new undertaking by either railway will be that for at least one season, and perhaps for more, a temporary arrangement will be in force by which the north country will be given a one-line haul rate, thus meeting one of the strongest objections it has put up against the present service. Presumably, no new lease will be necessary if the government decides to let the existing agreement with the C.P.R. continue, thus amended, until the complications with the Royal Bank are straightened out.

May Be President Of League Assembly

Name of Senator Dandurand, Canadian Delegate, Is Mentioned

Geneva.—Senator Raoul Dandurand, chief Canadian delegate, is being prominently mentioned for the presidency of the assembly of the League of Nations, which will begin its sessions here, September 7.

Denmark has requested the secretariat of the league to place on the agenda for the September sessions a project for the creation of a commission of conciliation at the permanent court of international justice at The Hague.

The first reaction in League of Nations circles to the Danish proposal is that it represents an attempt by neutral states to remove from the council of the League of Nations the exercise of conciliation, which hitherto has formed a notable feature of the council's activities, and place it under the jurisdiction of the world court, which would appoint conciliators in any dispute.

New Air Record Set

Message From Illinois Answered In Fifteen Minutes From Arctic

Arlington Heights, Ills.—For the first time in history, the successful direct transmission and reception of messages to and from the Arctic Polar area was recorded when the MacMillan Arctic expedition answered a query of newspapermen from a local radio station.

The expedition, located at Etah, Greenland, approximately 3,700 miles north of Chicago, clearly heard the message, and within 15 minutes the answer came back, scarcely hindered by static and adverse weather conditions.

Chicago's Crime Increases

Chicago.—Persons are being murdered in Chicago at a rate of more than one each day. A total of 227 have been murdered to date this year. If that pace of the last 211 days continues for the next 154 days, the Chicago murders at the end of 1925 will number 391.

Press Delegates Have Reached Honolulu

Canadian Will Leave On Return Trip October 8

Honolulu.—Delegates from Great Britain, Canada and other British Dominions on their way to the third imperial press conference in Australia, arrived here on the liner Aurangi and were warmly welcomed by the representatives of the Government of Hawaii and the people of Honolulu.

Today, the British press party is being entertained by the chamber of commerce to a sightseeing tour, culminating in an official luncheon.

During the voyage from Vancouver, the Canadian delegates organized their section with J. H. Woods, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Press, as chairman. The conference will open in Melbourne, September 29. The Canadians in the party probably will leave Australia for the return trip on the liner Mikura on October 8.

Test Flights Successful

MacMillan Expedition Intends to Establish Base on Ellesmere Island

Washington.—With all three of its aeroplanes assembled, test flights were conducted at Etah, Greenland, by the MacMillan Arctic expedition, one being to a height of 5,000 feet and over glaciers. Lieut.-Commander Byrd, commanding the navy section of the expedition, said in his radio message to the navy department, that, despite the encountering of bitterly cold temperatures, the motors behaved perfectly.

It is understood to be the intentions of the expedition to next establish a base on Ellesmere Island, across from Greenland, about half way to Cape Thomas Hubbard, on Axel Heiberg Island, where the advance flying base will be located, overlooking the polar sea.

St. Helena Welcomes Prince

Visit Paid to Place Where Napoleon War Interned

St. Helena.—A guard of honor of British ex-service men, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, and enthusiastic crowds welcomed the Prince of Wales here when he landed from the Repulse for a short stay on his way from Cape Town to South America.

The Prince went to Government House, where he received prominent members of the community. Later he visited Longwood, where Napoleon was interned, and was shown around the estate.

In the afternoon Wales played golf, and in the evening was the guest of honor at an official dinner, afterward attending a reception and dance.

Cancelled Sailings To China

Missionaries Will Go In October If It Is Considered Safe

Toronto.—Accepting the judgment of the West China mission, the Methodist mission board of the United Church of Canada cancelled the sailings arranged for 28 persons scheduled to leave Vancouver for Shanghai and Chungking, September 3.

Officials were instructed to arrange bookings for the middle of October, as that was the earliest date considered safe by leaders now in the field.

Eight missionaries, five missionaries' wives and 15 children were included in the party affected.

Cannot Unveil Memorial

Edmonton, Alta.—In a wireless dispatch from the steamship Distributor to the Edmonton Journal, Major Hodgson, private secretary, announces that Lord Byng regrets he will be unable to unveil the memorial at Strathmore, Alta., this summer, as his list of engagements in the west for this year is quite full.

Woman Executed in Ireland

Dublin.—A rare event in Ireland—the execution of a woman—took place in Mount Joy prison, when Anna Walsh and Michael Talbot were put to death for the murder of the husband of Mrs. Walsh at Limerick. Talbot was a relative of the victim.

For Prairie Harvest

Victoria, B.C.—More than 300 men will leave Victoria for the fall harvest on the prairies in the next few weeks, according to the department of labor here.

ALLIED DEBTS DISCUSSED BY BRITISH HOUSE

London.—The question of the allied debts to Great Britain was discussed briefly in the House of Commons when Walter Edward Guinness, financial secretary of the treasury, in replying to a question, said he presumed the debt negotiations with France which had been interrupted by the return of the French experts to Paris, would be resumed in due course.

When a member asked if the negotiations had ended, as reported, in "an acrimonious breaking off," Mr. Guinness replied emphatically: "Nothing of the kind!"

Mr. Guinness continued that a preliminary exchange of views had taken place with the Italian Government regarding Italy's debt to Great Britain. He said he understood Italy was framing proposals on this subject. He concluded that while not all the governments to which the recent British note was addressed had replied, he had no reason to suppose any of them would raise any difficulty with regard to the principles enunciated in that note as a fundamental basis for any debt settlement.

Will Assist In Fruit Probe

R. F. McWilliams, K.C., of Winnipeg, To Act With Government Attorney

Winnipeg.—Announcement was made that R. F. McWilliams, K.C., of Winnipeg, had been appointed as chief assistant to J. C. McRuer, K.C., of Toronto, in conducting the investigation into the affairs of the Nash Fruit interests throughout Western Canada.

Action was taken against the company under the Dominion Combines and Investigation Act, and the books of the various company branches seized by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The books are now being audited under supervision of government agents.

Will Keep Government House

Edmonton.—By a vote of 32 to 7, the Alberta Legislature, on motion of Dr. J. S. Stewart, Conservative, Lethbridge, seconded by Premier Greenfield, rescinded the Davidson-McKeen motion of March last, calling upon the government to sell or otherwise dispose of Government House.

Compromise Motion On Natural Resources

Alberta Urges Government to Close Negotiations For Transfer

Edmonton.—At a recent session of the legislature, a compromise motion on the natural resources question was unanimously agreed upon, and will be sent to the Federal Parliament at Ottawa. The motion is as follows:

"That this legislature should strongly urge the Government of Canada to use every effort to facilitate the closing of negotiations for the transfer of the natural resources to the province of Alberta, based on the general principles embodied in the draft agreement submitted, and as to the details thereof, upon terms and conditions that can be accepted as fair and equitable."

British Women Gain Victory

Admitted to Royal College of Surgeons On Equality With Men

London.—British women have gained another victory in their fight for equal rights with men when the Royal College of Surgeons decided to admit women on the same terms and under the same conditions as men. Heretofore, women have been admitted to the college as fellows and members, but without the right to vote as members of the college for the council, which is the executive body of the college.

In the future, women also will be eligible for seats on the council, which right heretofore has been denied them. There are at present 13 women fellows and members who are affected by the decision.

Honor Memory Of Canadian Author

Tablet in House at Brest, France

Paris.—The memory of Louis Hemon, famous Canadian author, has been honored, thanks to his Canadian admirers, when a bronze tablet was placed in his natal house at Brest. The town of Quimper already has named one of its principal streets after the author, who has been said to be more celebrated throughout the world than in his own country.

The tablet bears this inscription: "In this house was born Louis Hemon, author of Maria Chapdelaine. This tablet was placed by his admirers in Canada."

EARL HAIG AS ENGINE DRIVER

When Field Marshal Earl Haig crossed the Canadian Rockies on his special Canadian National Railways train, he expressed a wish to view the scenery from the cab of the engine rather than from the observation car which was attached to his train. He therefore took the throttle of the locomotive at Blue River and drove his own engine for several miles. Upper photograph shows him aboard the engine of his special, while below he is shown with Countess Haig, looking out toward Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies.

GOLD STANDARD WORKING WELL SAYS CHURCHILL

London.—Britain's return to the gold standard which, during recent weeks, has drawn forth a swelling, though discordant, chorus of adverse criticism from various sources, was staunchly defended in the house by Winston Spencer Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer.

Unquestionably, Mr. Churchill declared, the gold standard affected everything to a certain degree, and anyone could argue the fact that everything disagreeable which had happened since the gold standard was restored was due to its restoration. But disagreeable things always were happening, he remarked. He then asked that the government's action be judged not by fluctuations occurring over short periods but by its value in the long run.

"If England had not taken the action she did," the chancellor continued, "the British empire would have taken it without us and come on to a gold standard, not of the pound sterling but of the dollar."

The chancellor said he was cognizant of the growing tide of criticism and propaganda against the gold standard, but he pointed out that the critics disagreed among themselves and that no political party had challenged the government to action. The government was "entirely unrepentant."

Many War Claims Filed

Saskatchewan Residents Ask Indemnity From Germany For Losses

Regina.—Twenty-two war claims amounting to over $160,000 have been filed by Saskatchewan residents against Germany as a result of her activities during the war. The majority of the claims are for loss of personal effects and in some cases for loss of relatives aboard ships which were torpedoed by the Germans, according to James Friel, K.C., Ottawa war claims commissioner.

Ingils Sheldon Williams, of this city, had the most interesting claim to present to the commission. His claim is for $4,000 for drawings and paintings lost at sea through enemy action.

Mrs. Gertrude Albee E. Dowse, now of Winnipeg, has a claim for $30,000 for the loss of her husband on the ill-fated Lusitania. Mrs. Martha Ellen Matthews, of 19 Utopia Block, Moose Jaw, also claims $40,000 for the loss of her husband on the Lusitania.

Khamis Michael, of Morilach, born in Turkey, but naturalized in Canada in 1905, has a claim for $56,377 for the loss of his son, personal injuries, and injuries to his wife and family in addition to personal property loss.

Difference Over Security Pact

Matter Not Ready For Discussion Between Foreign Ministers

London.—Aristide Briand has created an awkward situation for the British Government by his announcement that he is coming to London to talk with Austen Chamberlain on the security pact without having first consulted Mr. Chamberlain about the date.

A serious difference of opinion has arisen between the French and the British over the drafting of a note replying to the latest German communication on security, and there is still much to be threshed out before the matter is ready for discussion between the foreign ministers. The situation is not helped by the disagreement on a debt settlement. The French offer is so small as to be contemptible, and the comments of the French press on the British refusal to accept it, show there is no real desire of the French to meet their obligations.

Minister Wins Bard's Crown

Pwllheli, Wales.—The bard's crown of the Welsh elated, national festival for the encouragement of music and literature, has been won for the third time by Rev. William S. Evans, of Bridgend, Wales, who was winner in 1913 and again in 1917. Ten thousand persons attended the festival, delegations coming from the British colonies and dominions and from the United States. There were more than 3,000 entrants in the competitions in music, drama and poetry.

Didsbury Live Stock Men Win Many Prizes.

The exhibits at the Olds fair included many from the Didsbury district, the live stock section especially being well represented. The premier honors for the Holstein competition were awarded to Brennan Bros., who secured first for the best bull, Weber and Manhard being second. C. Wrightson drew a red ticket for his bull calf. Weber and Manhard (says the Olds Gazette) had the best cow in this class.

Brennan Bros. captured honors in the Ayrshire class with one and two year old heifers.

Weber and Manhard hold the Canadian Bank of Commerce cup for the winning dairy cow.

Among the horses, Sol. Weigand of Didsbury, with a splendid matched team of blacks, was a popular winner in the Agricultural class.

Wm. Burrell was also a winner with his single driver.

In the races, Dave Sinclair of Didsbury with Elkhart won the mile trot or pace over W. Burrell's Minnesota patch, there being only two entries.

Planning Great Air Liner

British Firm Will Build First Steel Airship

A great engineering feat will be started by a well-known British firm in the early summer of next year, the building of the world's largest airship, the first steel air liner. It will be about 720 feet long, nearly twice the height of St. Paul's.

The airship will be able to carry a load of 155 tons, and seven engines, with a horsepower totalling 4,200, will drive the monster seventy miles an hour, at a height of 5,000 feet.

The shed at Cardington, in which the R-101 will be built, is to be enlarged to a length of 812 feet, and will then be the largest building in the British empire.

It is estimated that the airship will be finished by the end of 1926, and will make her first trip to India in 1927.

To Ease Rubber Situation

New Regulations Allows Export at a Minimum Duty

The British colonial office has announced it has decided to permit from August 1 export of 75 per cent. of the rubber production in Ceylon and the Straits Settlements at a minimum duty, this being a 10 per cent. increase over the export allowed during the previous three months.

The new regulation includes the Federated Malay States. The British Government also has approved certain concessions in the assessment of the standard of production in the Federated Malay States which it is believed will further ease the situation.

Exclusive Patterns

For Summer Dances and Dinners

Taffeta and flowers express a quaint simplicity in the little evening frock pictured here. The tight bodice and full skirt express a type which is very popular with the younger set, and is especially pretty when the crispness of taffeta is allowed to influence the skirt to stand away at the hips. Taffeta of a soft yellow shade, with hand-drawn flowers and leaves scattered throughout, was used for this frock, the full skirt of which is softly shirred to the bodice. The short sleeves and round neck are finished with a narrow piping of the taffeta. Sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 years requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch or 40-inch material. Price 20 cents.

Home sewing brings nice clothes within the reach of all, and to follow the mode is delightful when it can be done so easily and economically, by following the styles pictured in our new Fashion Book. A chart accompanying each pattern shows the material as it appears when cut out. Every detail is explained, so that the inexperienced sewer can make without difficulty an attractive dress. Price of the book 10 cents the copy. Each copy includes one coupon good for five cents in the purchase of any pattern.

Protect Fur-Bearing Animals

Society in Springfield, Mass., Organized to Prevent Unnecessary Killing

In an effort to reduce unnecessary killing of fur-bearing animals, a campaign has been launched against extravagant use of furs for purposes of decoration. That the necessary slaying may be humanely accomplished, suggestions are welcomed by the organization promoting the movement, which may result in more humane methods of trapping, such as the invention of a trap which will kill instantly. The association in question is the American Blue Cross Society, with headquarters in Springfield, Mass., which for three years has been carrying on drives in connection with this work.

It is stated that the Blue Cross Society is not opposed to the wearing of furs as a protection against cold, but only to an excessive use of furs as embellishment.

TEMPERANCE LESSON

Golden Text: Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. Galatians 6.7.

Lesson: Galatians 5:13-24.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 23:29-35.

The Text Explained and Illuminated—
The Flesh Against the Spirit

The power of love, verses 13-15.—Brothers, wrote Paul, you are free from the law, but Christian liberty does not mean that you can do as you please; do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but live in accordance with the law of love. Flesh is used here for "that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness, and makes for evil." It signifies the entire potency of sin. Through loving service for others you fulfil the whole divine law, which is, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Paul here quotes Lev. 19:18. Then, remembering that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, he adds, But if ye bite and devour one another—act toward one another like dogs or wild beasts—beware lest you destroy one another.

"No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare the time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take all the consequences, including the violating of his temper and the loss of self-control" (Abraham Lincoln).

Will Abandon Island

Land Off North Wales Coast Is Too Isolated

Bardsey Island situated off the coast of North Wales is about to be abandoned by its inhabitants. The island is about two miles long and one wide and has its own king. Thirty years ago Bardsey had a population of one hundred people, but they have dwindled down to forty-five, who have been living on nine small holdings. King Love Pritchard, the island's monarch, was crowned in 1911, and is now eighty-three years of age. His predecessor, King John II, abdicated, and died in a Welsh workhouse. The youngest inhabitant is a year-old baby. No rates or taxes are paid by the islanders. The decision to abandon the island was made at a conference of the islanders, the main reason being the difficulty of transport. Although the distance between the mainland and the island is only two miles, currents and tides make the passage one of five miles. The islanders have often been for six weeks without communication with the mainland. Most of the young men, being sailors, have left the island.

Germany Rejoices Over
Evacuation of Ruhr

Occupied By French Forces Since January 11, 1923

French evacuation of the Ruhr is complete, that not a single French soldier remained in the mining and industrial basin after midnight July 31.

The entry of the French forces into the Ruhr took place January 11, 1923. It caused much ink to flow, and entire pages of the newspapers were devoted to the report of the operation designed to bring about payment by Germany of her reparations obligations. The evacuation, which has been going on for the past month, however, has been totally ignored by the French press and unnoticed by the general public.

At 12 o'clock all church bells at Essen were chimed to observe the official termination of the occupation of the Ruhr by allied troops. Flags were flown throughout the city, and the inhabitants rejoiced.

Innkeeper Had To Pay

Fined £50 By English Judge For Not Admitting Traveller

A traveller in the lake district of England who found himself stranded, owing to a mishap at 5.45 one morning, went to an hotel and rang the bell.

No one opened the door, and, although he rang again and again, he was unable to gain admission for over an hour, while he stood in the cold and rain.

He brought an action against the hotel-keeper, because he wished to show that innkeepers have a duty to the travelling public which they are legally bound to carry out, and the judge, agreeing with him, awarded him £50 damages.

Dr. Augusta Gulien Believes in Enlarging Opportunities

Canadian women who enjoy the suffrage, owe a debt of gratitude to Augusta Stowe Gulien, M.D., C.M., who in a large measure was responsible for securing this right to her countrywomen. Dr. Stowe, says the London Free Press, was born at Norwich, Oxford county. She is the daughter of two doctors, a doctor herself, and the wife of a doctor. So that her heritage is a rightful one.

In all issues pertaining to enlarged opportunities for women—educationally, medically, legally and politically—Dr. Stowe Gulien has ever been an exponent and advocate unswerving in her loyalty to the cause of women. She is a woman of brilliant mental and social attainments; a convincing speaker, both progressive and aggressive.

British Plan Naval Construction

Total Estimated Cost of Ships Will Be $290,000,000

W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, supplied parliament with official details of the proposed new naval construction up to and including the year 1929-30. During the current year four cruisers would be laid down. They will belong to class A. The following year two cruisers of class A and one of class B will be built. The three succeeding years will have one of class A and two of class B each.

The programme provides for a total of 27 destroyers, 23 submarines of the O type and one of the fleet type, five gunboats and a number of other auxiliaries. The total estimated cost is £88,000,000.

Threequarters of a Ton Discovered At Warsaw

A huge store of Communist propaganda literature, weighing, in the aggregate, threequarters of a ton, was discovered by the police at Warsaw. It consisted of pamphlets printed in several languages, and apparently formed the main stock of the literature of the Communists in Poland.

The minister of the interior said the Communist party in Poland was not increasing in power. On the contrary, the recent activity of the police against Communist activities had had a distinct effect in decreasing them.

BARRE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BARRE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

Synopsis

Barre, son of Kazan and Gray Wolf, reached the climax in the first chapter of his education when he saw an owl swoop down and kill a snowball rabbit. Then the gray owl attacked Barre. The dog buried his teeth in the bird's breast but the owl fastened its beak on Barre's ear. Barre's fangs closed on one of the owl's tender feet and the dog's ear was freed. Together the antagonists fell into a creek and the owl flew away.

When he went on, continuing in the direction he had been following yesterday, he slunk along in a disheartened sort of way. His head and ears were no longer alert, and his curiosity was gone. He was not only stomach-hungry; mother-hunger rose above his physical yearning for something to eat. He wanted his mother as he had never wanted her before in his life. He wanted to snuggle his shivering little body close up to her and feel the warm caressing of her tongue and listen to the mothering whine of her voice. And he wanted Kazan, and the old windfall, and that big blue spot that was in the sky right over it. While he followed again along the edge of the creek; he whimpered for them as a child might grieve.

The forest grew more open after a time, and this cheered him up a little. Also the warmth of the sun was taking the ache out of his body. He grew hungrier and hungrier. He had depended entirely on Kazan and Gray Wolf for food. His parents had, in some ways, made a great baby of him. Gray Wolf's blindness accounted for this, for since his birth she had not taken up her hunting with Kazan, distance, and the rock under which he made his bed this night was at least eight or nine miles from the windfall. It was in the open of the creek bottom, with the dark forest of spruce and cedars close on either side; and when the moon rose, and the stars filled the sky, Barre could look out and see the water of the stream shimmering in a glow almost as bright as day. Directly in front of him, running to the water's edge, was a broad carpet of white sand. Across this sand, half an hour later, came a huge black bear.

Until Barre had seen the otters at play in the creek, his conceptions of the forests had not gone beyond his own kind, and such creatures as owls and rabbits and small feathered things. The otters had not frightened him, because he still measured things by size, and Nekik was not half as big as Kazan. But the bear was a monster beside which Kazan would have stood as a mere pigmy. He was big. If nature was taking this way of introducing Barre to the fact that there were more important creatures in the forests than dogs and wolves, and owls and crayfish, she was driving the point home with a little more than necessary emphasis. For Wakayoo, the bear, weighed six hundred pounds if he weighed an ounce. He was fat and sleek from a month's feasting on fish. His shiny coat was like black velvet in the moonlight, and he walked with a curious rolling motion with his head hung low. The horror grew when he stopped broadside in the carpet of sand not more than feet from the rock under which Barre was shivering as if he had theague.

"Across this sand, half an hour later, came a huge black bear."

and it was quite natural that Barre should stick close to her, though more than once he had been filled with a great yearning to follow his father. Nature was hard at work trying to overcome its handicap now. It was struggling to impress on Barre that the time had now come when he must seek his own food.

With the thinning out of the forest the creek grew more shallow. It ran again over bars of sand and stones, and Barre began to nose along the edge of these. For a long time he had no success. The few crayfish that he saw were exceedingly lively and elusive, and all the clamshells were shut so tight that even Kazan's powerful jaws would have had difficulty in smashing them. It was almost noon when he caught his first crayfish, about as big as a man's forefinger. He devoured it ravenously. The taste of food gave him fresh courage. He caught two more crayfish during the afternoon.

With the approach of night Barre's fears and great loneliness returned. Before the day had quite gone he found himself a shelter under a big rock, where there was a warm, soft bed of sand. Since his fight with Papayuchisew, he had travelled a long

It was quite evident that Wakayoo had caught scent of him in the air. Barre could hear him sniff—could hear his breathing—caught the starlight flashing in his reddish-brown eyes as they swung suspiciously toward the big boulder. If Barre could have known then that he—his insignificant little self—was making that monster actually nervous and uneasy, he would have given a yelp of joy. For Wakayoo, in spite of his size, was somewhat of a coward when it came to wolves. And Barre carried the wolf-scent. It grew stronger in Wakayoo's nose; and just then, as if to increase whatever nervousness was growing in him, there came from out of the forest behind him a long and walling howl.

With an audible grunt, Wakayoo moved on. Wolves were pests, he argued. They wouldn't stand up and fight. They'd snap and yap at one's heels for hours at a time, and were always out of the way quicker than a wink when one turned on them. What was the use of hanging around where there were wolves, on a beautiful night like this? He lumbered on decisively. Barre could hear him splashing heavily through the water of the creek. Not until then did the wolf-dog draw a full breath. It was almost a gasp.

CHAPTER IV.

When Barre ventured forth from under his rock at the beginning of the next day, he was a much older puppy than when he met Papayuchisew, the young owl, in his path near the old windfall. If experience can be made to take the place of age, he had aged a great deal in the last forty-eight hours. In fact, he had passed almost out of puppyhood. He awoke with a new and much broader conception of the world. It was a big place. It was filled with many things, of which Kazan and Gray Wolf were not the most important. The monsters he had seen on the moonlit plot of sand had roused in him a new kind of caution, and the one greatest instinct of beasts—the primal understanding that it is the strong that prey upon the weak—was wakening swiftly in him.

If he could only find something to eat! That was the master thought that possessed Barre. Instinct had not yet impressed upon him that this which he saw all about him was starvation. He went on, seeking hopelessly for food. But at last, as the hours passed, hope began to die out of him. The sun sank westwards. The sky grew less blue; a low wind began to ride over the tops of the stubs, and now and then one of them fell with a startling crash.

Barre could go no farther. An hour before dusk he lay down in the open, weak and starved. The sun disappeared behind the forest. The moon rolled up from the east. The sky glittered with stars—and all through the night Barre lay as if dead. When morning came, he dragged himself to the stream for a drink. With his last strength he went on. It was the wolf urging him—compelling him to struggle to the last for his life. The dog in him wanted to lie down and die. But the wolf-spark in him burned stronger. In the end it won. Half a mile farther on he came again to the green timber.

Explorer Tells How Lizard Rejected Its Admirer

In "Adventures in Exploration at the World's End," William Beebe, the explorer, says:
No sooner had I passed beyond the open sandy beach of Galapagos Island, than little lizards began to dart along my path.

I crept up to the first one I saw, anxious to get a photograph, and while looking into my camera almost trod upon it, so tame was it. While waiting for it to turn sideways, a big male crawled between my feet and nodded frantically to a scarlet-throated female sunning herself on a bit of lava. He crept a little nearer, nodded again, whereupon the lady lizard rose as high as possible upon all four legs, making them look like straight little sticks, arched her body, blew herself up with air until she lost all semblance to a lizard, and, turning her head slowly, spat upon her admirer. He turned, nonchalantly caught a fly, and sadly made his way elsewhere. Never have I seen such a sudden transformation or a more unmistakable indication of disposition.

Last But Twelve Hours

Flowers of Night-Blooming Cereus Withers At Dawn

Of the many beautiful flowers of the Hawaiian Islands, the night-blooming cereus stands out by itself. It comes of the cactus family and is without competition, as it is the owl of the flower kingdom. The life of the flower is about twelve hours. The buds begin to open as the shades of night gather, and by the time darkness settles the flower is fully open. But with the coming of the morning it begins to close and wither, never to open again.

These flowers come in countless numbers and are nine inches in length and from six to eight inches across. The petals are snow-white, while the deep calyx is a rich yellow.

June, July and August is the blooming season, but there is only one night when the buds come forth in all their glory. On that night the people of Honolulu turn out to pay homage to this queen of flowers.

A Homely Illustration

Toasting Bread Shows Main Principle Accounting For Heat at Equator

Every time we toast a piece of bread we are illustrating the main principle which chiefly accounts for the earth being hotter at the equator than at the poles. If we hold the bread parallel with the fire, it gets the full heat, but if we tilt it slantwise, it takes longer to toast. The equator is the part of the earth's globe that gets the most direct rays from the sun, the poles the parts that get the most slanting rays. In the one case, we get a sun directly overhead at some part of the day; in the other, the sun at its very best only "rises" to a point low down on the horizon, and so gives off rays extremely on the slant. These slantwise rays, too, have to pass through much more atmosphere than the straight rays, and as our atmosphere acts as a sort of blanket, with its mists and fogs, it follows that the heat of the slanting rays is still further reduced in power. Other considerations also have their bearing upon the question, but the straight versus slantwise rays are the main factor in the comparative heat of the equator over the poles.

The Right Way to Boil Potatoes

Put the potatoes in an SMP Enamelled Potato Pot. Cover with water. Add salt to taste. Boil until soft. When finished, drain off all the boiling water through the strainer spout. No danger of steam scalding the hands because the handle securely locks the cover on. If your family uses potatoes, you require one of these.
